

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The latest news from New Harvest:

- Isha Datar will be speaking at Bitten: A Food Conversation in New York City on February 12th. For further information and to purchase tickets, please visit the conference website.
- Indie Bio San Francisco's "Demo Day" for its current cohort will be taking place on February 4th. For those in the Bay Area, this will be a fantastic opportunity to see cellular agriculture startups Gelzen Inc. and Memphis Meats present their hard work over the last four months. Tickets are free but limited! If you aren't able to make the event in person, it will also be livestreamed at 3pm PST: follow #IndieBio for details.

NEW HARVEST FEATURES

This week's original stories by our staffers and volunteers:

- New Harvest's Journal Club has published a new review on "The Environmental Prospects of Cultured Meat in China" by Zhi-Chang, S., et al.

FROM AROUND THE WEB

Our favourite content this week about the world of cellular agriculture:

- Post-animal bioeconomy pioneer, New Harvest community member, and co-founder of Muufri (our very first startup!), Perumal Gandhi was featured in Effective Altruism's interview series. Find out how Perumal became interested in producing animal-free milk and what drives his work here!
- Videos of last month's Impact.Tech meetup in San Francisco are now available online! Check out Seth Bannon's recap of the 2015 Cultured

Meat Conference; and Clara Foods CEO Arturo Elizondo's radical vision of the future of eggs.

- Adam Bluestein of Fast Company includes cultured meat amongst the suite of different novel foods poised to potentially overtake conventionally produced meat in the future.
- As if you needed more reasons to support cellular agriculture - Ben Adler writes for Grist.org about some of the various negative impacts of livestock grazing on American grasslands, and subsequently, the global climate crisis.

New Harvest is powered by people like you.

Donate Now!

New Harvest is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization.

EIN/tax ID number: 20-1425438

All donations are fully tax deductible.